

About Greens Coulee

Greens Coulee Park is a scenic bluffland nature preserve located in the City of Onalaska and the Mississippi River valley. Acquired in 2009 with the assistance of Wisconsin's Knowles-Nelson Stewardship Program, and the Doris Duke Charitable Foundation, this was the first purchase made under a cooperative agreement between the City of Onalaska and the Conservancy. The property rises over 400 feet above the adjacent valley bottom, and hiking trails run from the wetlands area at the lower end of the park through areas of oak savanna to rock quarries at the summits of the two bluffs. The southern bluff rises to 1212 feet and is one of the highest points in the Coulee Region.

Greens Coulee Park is owned and maintained by the City of Onalaska and much of it is permanently protected by Mississippi Valley Conservancy. The land is managed as natural habitat and is part of the larger City Greenway Project.

Greens Coulee Park protects a scenic ridgeline peak described in Hamlin Garland's A Son of the Middle Border as well as high quality dry prairie communities in three locations. These remnant prairies are important because less than one tenth of one percent of the prairie present 200 years ago remains today. The dry cliffs feature numerous fissures, crevices, and honeycombing.

"The land includes rare natural communities such as dry bluff prairie and globally imperiled oak savanna," said Abbie Church, MVC Conservation Director. "The variety of blooming plants, the massive oak trees, the mushroom-shaped rock formations, and fabulous views from the prairies are all spectacular."

Allowed activities: hiking, skiing, snow-shoeing, bird-watching, hunting in accordance with Onalaska Urban Deer Management Program

Not allowed: biking, motorized vehicles
